

FIRST BALLOT ROOSEVELT IS WINNER

Without Counting Contests 3,363 Precincts Out of 3,700
Roosevelt Has 500 Delegates 539 Necessary

SCORES TACTICS EMPLOYED VIOLENCE IN WASHINGTON

Effort to Discredit Former President With Brownsville Incident Falls Flat

DAYTON, O., May 15.—In the opinion of Theodore Roosevelt, the campaign for the Republican nomination for president has now been decided. He dictated this statement tonight: "The number of delegates necessary to nominate is 539. Of the delegates already elected, without counting the contested delegates, I have more than 500. Of the delegates yet to be elected, I am confident I will receive enough to insure my nomination on the first ballot."

Colonel Roosevelt's claim was based upon a table of delegates prepared by his secretary.

Colonel Roosevelt referred to several states in which he said he would receive more votes than are included on the list of delegates now instructed to him. The table, he added, did not take into consideration the chance of obtaining delegates from Ohio or New Jersey.

In speaking at Kenton, Colonel Roosevelt said:

Has Majority Contested Delegates.

"Of contested delegates that have been elected, we now have a majority over Mr. Taft. On the present showing it will be impossible to nominate him except by unfairly and improperly seating delegates who have no possible claim to sit in the convention."

Colonel Roosevelt began the second day of his Ohio campaign in Elvira, where he made a speech before breakfast, and ended it at Dayton tonight. He delivered 15 speeches to crowds of large size.

In his address at Springfield, Colonel Roosevelt criticized President Taft.

"A certain former congressman from Illinois," said "who is supporting Mr. Taft as his chief, has come into Ohio, bringing members of the two companies of the colored regiment which were discharged because of the riot at Brownsville, to try to get out colored fellow citizens to vote against me."

"I always accept full responsibility for what I do. I did take the action at Brownsville, and my judgment in taking it has been ratified over and over again by every competent man who has investigated the matter by impartial after trial. I want you to understand that I am not taking back my finger's breadth any action of mine. If I should lose every delegate in every state in the union by taking it, I would take such action over again."

Acted on Taft's Recommendation.

"I want to call your attention to the fact that the Taft managers, at a time when Mr. Taft is in the state himself, about one word of protest from him, are trying to use that incident to my disadvantage."

LAYING FOUNDATION TO SHOW ILLEGALITY GOVERNMENT HOPES TO PROVE ABSORPTION OF TENN. COAL AND IRON CO. WRONG

NEW YORK, MAY 15.—Taking the testimony of John A. Topping, chairman of the Republic Iron and Steel company, the government lawyers, in the suit to dissolve the United States steel corporation under the Sherman act, said the foundation today of evidence by which they hope to prove that the absorption of the Tennessee Coal and Iron company in 1907 was illegal.

The government contends that to secure the company the corporation had advantage of the financial difficulties in the banking firm of Moore, Schreyer, the large holders of Tennessee stock, and that when President Roosevelt was induced by Judge Gary and H. C. Frick to approve the transaction because it was the only way the plant could be saved and the panic checked, the president was deceived.

Mr. Topping, who was chairman of the Republic Iron and Steel company at the time, gave testimony setting forth the value of the company's properties at Birmingham, Ala., and what facilities it possessed for the manufacture of steel pig iron that would make it a dangerous competitor of the corporation. He held its ore and coal holdings except those of any other steel company except those of the steel corporation that owing to the character of the ore and the proximity of the furnace, it could manufacture steel cheaper than any concern in the country and that it was practically the only Clarence Darrow, the famous trial lawyer, was placed on trial at Los Angeles yesterday, charged with being connected with the bribery scandals of the McNamara brothers trial.

Trial of Noted Criminal Lawyer Formally Opened

LOS ANGELES, May 15.—In the same court room in the hall of justice where the McNamara brothers were sentenced to prison early last December after pleading guilty to dynamiting Clarence S. Darrow, of Chicago, their chief counsel, and one of the most noted criminal lawyers in the country, was placed on trial today before Judge George H. Hutton of the superior court for the alleged bribery of George N. Lockwood, one of the victims in the trial of James B. McNamara.

The charge of bribing Junior Robert P. Bain will be ignored in the present trial.

Rapid progress was made in the examination of witnesses, and at 6:30 o'clock this afternoon there were 12 men in the jury box who had been passed tentatively by the defense.

After two had been excluded on challenges for cause by the defense.

At the conclusion of the day's session four of the 12 had been accepted tentatively by the state and another challenged for cause. The court will rule on the state's challenge tomorrow morning.

According to District Attorney John D. Fredericks, there is a possibility that the trial may last two months, but if the rapid progress made today in selecting jurors is continued, the taking of evidence may begin before the end of this week.

Assisting Fredericks in the prosecution is Assistant District Attorney Joseph P. Ford, who aided in the McNamara prosecution, while Darrow is represented by Attorneys Earl Rogers and Cyrus S. McNutt of Indiana.

FURTHER FLOOD DANGER IN SIGHT

NEW ORLEANS, May 15.—With approximately 1,000 square miles of Louisiana lands inundated by the Mississippi river flood and more than 100,000 inhabitants driven from their homes by the paroxysms of the river from the Arkansas river almost to the Gulf, further danger is in sight.

The most serious ravages of the present disastrous flood-Hymetia promises to add another 1,000 square miles to the overflowed territory, make homeless thousands of persons and add millions of dollars to the property damage.

Except for a small stretch of land in west Feliciana, and another in lower St. Bernard parishes, the overflowed territory extends along the west banks of the Mississippi river from the northern part of the state to the extreme southern part, 300 miles in length and varying in width from 10 to 30 miles.

Tonight the Hamella crevasse, 15 miles north of here on the opposite side of the river, had widened to approximately 100 feet, and the water had inundated about 10 square miles of rich sugar lands in St. Charles and St. John the Baptist parishes.

Work was begun to close the ends of the crevasse, but the proposal to close the big gap in an effort to save the 25,000-acre tract of property which is threatened awaits the action tomorrow of the Mississippi river commission.

H. H. GRAFTON HEADS STATE POSTMASTERS

Manitou carried off the lion's share of honors at the annual meeting of the Colorado Postmasters' association, which closed in Denver last night.

H. H. Grafton was elected president, succeeding Postmaster J. F. Morgan of Colorado City, and the association recommended that the 1912 meeting be held in Manitou. The time and place of the convention is in the hands of the executive committee, but it is regarded as a foregone conclusion that it will accept the recommendation of the meeting just closed.

AS was expected, the association endorsed the national administration and the present postal policies.

Austrian Is Killed in Mine Cave Near Calhan

John Godwin, an Austrian living near Calhan, was killed Monday afternoon in a surface coal mine near his home. He was digging in a narrow shaft when it caved in, crushing his skull.

Will Build Plant for Low Grade Ore of Mary M'Kinney

E. A. Colburn of Denver, president of the Ajax Gold Mining company, and associates may build a mill at Cripple Creek for the treatment of the low-grade ores of the Mary M'Kinney mine, along the same lines as the Ajax mill, which has proved such a golden success. In order to determine if the Mary M'Kinney ore can be handled by the proposed plant, it is being sampled along its several veins and on its dumps. The company is installed at the Ajax plant and this will be used in the new mill.

A report will be made to the Mary M'Kinney Mining company within a few days, and at the same time a proposition will be made to build a mill for the sampling, so warrants.

This investigation led to an unqualified report from Cripple Creek that prospective investors were investigating the mine with a view to taking up a proposed option on the claim of the company. This was emphatically denied last night by E. J. Ryan, secretary-treasurer of the Mary M'Kinney.

A body of ore about seven inches wide, running from 10 to 12 ounces, was opened yesterday on the eighth Mary M'Kinney level, where the company has been doing extensive development work. Besides the vein struck, there is a foot of ore on the hanging wall, which makes an average of about two feet of better than 100 ore.

Recent operations have been very encouraging, declares Mr. Ryan, and promise a contribution of the usual dividends on better ore.

Work was begun to close the ends of the crevasse, but the proposal to close the big gap in an effort to save the 25,000-acre tract of property which is threatened awaits the action tomorrow of the Mississippi river commission.

SON SUCCEEDS THREE BISHOPS TO DANISH THRONE

COPENHAGEN, May 15.—Christian X, first son of the late King Frederick, was proclaimed king of Denmark from the balcony of the palace at 3 o'clock this afternoon in the presence of a huge concourse of people, who had gathered in the square in front of the royal residence.

The space in front of the palace was so crowded that many of the people were crushed while others fainted.

Christian X Proclaimed King Before Vast Throng of Cheering Subjects

Evidences of Deepest Sorrow on All Sides for Dead Ruler of Country

The space in front of the palace was so crowded that many of the people were crushed while others fainted.

The premier promptly at 3 o'clock appeared on the balcony of the palace and announced the death of King Frederick. He then proclaimed Christian X, his successor and wished the new king a long life.

Enthusiastic cheering broke out as the new monarch, in the uniform of the royal guard, stepped into the balcony. In a brief speech he paid a tribute to his father and pointed out the difficulties of succeeding such a ruler, concluding:

"May God give me strength rightly to rule my dear old country, and may it live forever."

Crowd Sings National Anthem.

In response to the cheers of the people, King Christian and Queen Alexandra with their two sons appeared again and again. The scene was an inspiring one and closed with the singing of the national anthem by the immense concourse.

Religious messages announcing the accession to the throne were read in both houses of parliament.

Throughout the day, the church bells of the city have been tolling.

In this palace many telegrams of condolence from chiefs of state have arrived, including one from President Taft.

The German emperor is expected to attend the funeral ceremony.

The people of Denmark are momentarily stunned by the sudden death of their late popular king, who only two days ago they were informed in official communications had completely recovered from the serious illness which had affected him earlier in the year and was returning to Copenhagen in excellent health.

Evidences of the deepest sorrow and sympathy are visible everywhere. Copenhagen is fast assuming the garb of mourning.

The tragic circumstances of the king's seizure are virtually identical with those of his first illness, three months ago, with the exception that this time the attack terminated fatally.

On both occasions his majesty was walking in the streets alone when he collapsed with heart failure.

It is now stated here that his majesty's illness from since had been hastened by the physicians recognized the possibility of a catastrophe. The court physicians were unable to induce him to observe the quiet necessary to his convalescence.

His death was preceded by his physicians, who had been restored to health by his trip to the south. Yesterday he felt unusually well and during the day expressed joy at his expected return to Copenhagen today.

He remarked that he felt refreshed and completely restored to health. It was announced this morning that arrangements for taking the body to Denmark would be completed during the day.

His majesty's relatives and retainers throughout Europe were notified of his death before daylight.

The flags on all the public buildings here where the king had repeatedly been a welcome guest were half-masted today.

King Frederick and Queen Louise, who had traveled here from Nice under the recognition of the Count and Countess of Kronberg, had their three younger children, Princess Thyra, Prince Gustav and Princess Dagmar with them.

King Frederick had been undergoing a course of treatment for arterio-sclerosis with which he had been troubled for a considerable time. He had also suffered from an attack of inflammation of the lungs, but this had been overcome. When he left the Hamburg hotel last night after a hearty dinner, the king strolled toward the square market, one of the principal squares in the business section of the city and just around the corner from the hotel.

M. E. CHURCH RETIRED

Warren, D. H. Moore and T. B. Neely, New Orleans, Cut Off

With the passing of Bishop Warren, who often has been called the "Father of the Episcopacy" and the "Abraham Lincoln of the Religious Life," there comes to an end the 57 years of active ministerial work, 33 of which he has been a bishop.

Bishop Moore, who attained the rank of Lieutenant colonel during the Civil war, has been in the ministry since 1859 and has been in his present office for 12 years. Bishop Neely entered the ministry in 1885 and has held the office of bishop for eight years.

Considering Action Two Weeks.

For practically two weeks the Episcopacy committee has been holding daily sessions to come to an agreement. It is understood the committee was in favor of retiring Bishops Warren and Moore but was hopelessly deadlocked on the superannuation of Bishop Neely.

The storm broke when the chairman of the committee asked permission to present the matter without the usual formality of printing it and then reported that the committee recommended the retirement of Bishops Warren and Moore, recommended nothing concerning Bishop Neely but advocated the taking of a ballot by the delegates on all three.

The house immediately was in an uproar during the speeches which followed, applause and hisses often followed one another closely.

The convention hall was packed at 2:30 o'clock, the time set for reading the result of the ballot and when the vote was announced the silence was oppressive. Then through the secretaries, Bishop Moore, who had sat upon the platform during the ordeal, begged leave to speak a few words. He addressed upon his years in the service and advocated the automatic retirement of bishops at 70 years of age.

Moore's Remarks Bring Tears.

"It is more pleasant to have one's head cut off and rolling in the basket, than to live as I have for 10 days and watch the keen descending edge of the guillotine," he said. "I am going back to the home of my childhood; back to my children's graves and show the people how far the stiff stream of youth can run into the Arctic ocean of old age."

When he had completed the sound of weeping throughout the entire hall was audible, while upon the platform (Continued on Page Two.)

FIVE FATALITIES IN FOREST FIRES

SEATTLE, Wash., May 15.—Five lives known to be lost, two men missing and property damaged several hundred thousand dollars are the results of several forest fires which swept over the northwestern part of Washington yesterday and last night. The fires are still burning and uncontrolled, but in most sections the situation shows improvement, and unless a wind springs up there is little fear of further disaster.

TAFT TO KEEP ON ATTACKING

OUTLINES HIS CAMPAIGN AGAINST ROOSEVELT

Use of Personalities Will Be Chief Source of Ammunition to End of Fight

SANDISKY, O., May 15.—President Taft, who has been in his attack on (Colonel) Roosevelt as long as he is in the campaign for renomination, today outlined his personal attack on the president of the not, Mr. Taft intends to keep up his campaign of criticism of the former president and outline the achievements of the Taft administration in a half dozen short speeches he made today. Mr. Taft emphatically declared that it was not time now for Mr. Roosevelt to preach the doctrine of "no personalities."

"Having called me everything in the category of bad names, that are mentioned in polite society, Mr. Roosevelt now wishes to indulge in less emphatic expressions," said Mr. Taft at Bucyrus.

"Mr. Roosevelt is now going about Ohio saying he will not condescend to personalities with me," Mr. Taft shouted at Mansfield. "If he had reached that conclusion two months ago, I should not be here to talk to you at all. But having applied to me every name in the calendar and now coming back to Ohio and fearing its effects, he says, 'Let's have no personalities.'"

"I am here to answer the charges that he is continuing to make, although he does not roar so loudly and does not use so many epithets. Our merchants don't forget those things."

Hoarseness Handicaps Him.

"I may be puzzled-witted but I know the difference between plain truth and plain fiction, and there are some people that I don't think do."

He had been talking about Mr. Roosevelt.

Mr. Taft spoke 12 times today including his night address here. He started out with the handicap of unusual hoarseness, seemed to conquer it after a time in the morning but later it returned worse than ever and at several towns Mr. Taft could speak only for a few minutes.

He brought in the name of Mr. Roosevelt time after time. "I don't know my friends, that Theodore Roosevelt and his election are essential to the happiness of the American people," said the president at Marion. "You said that from the way he talked that we were a very oppressed people. Well, I have no doubt that there is room for improvement but I think that we are getting along fairly well, and we are not in a condition of dissolution so that we need a capital operation in the form of Theodore Roosevelt for a third term."

The president departed tonight for Cleveland.

SUIT ON IN FLORIDA

Heating is in progress in the Florida supreme court in the suit of William O'Brien against Richard J. Bolles on an appeal from the Florida circuit court according to press dispatches, yesterday. The action involves more than $100,000.

Several months ago the circuit court decided that Bolles was entitled to a fourth interest in the Florida lands, in violation of which Bolles is a large stockholder on the strength of an alleged contract entered into by O'Brien and Bolles. Bolles repudiated the contract claimed by O'Brien, and when the circuit court decided against him, he appealed to the supreme court in Florida.

O'Brien is a resident of Colorado Springs and Bolles also lived here for many years prior to becoming identified with the Florida Lands company, a few years ago.

THREE BISHOPS

many of Bishop Moore's comrades had hidden their faces in handkerchiefs.

What effect the retirement of the three bishops will have on the election of new members probably will be made tomorrow, as it is expected that the Episcopal committee will report then concerning the number recommended for election. It is said the committee will recommend at least eight new bishops and probably more and that it also will recommend seven new Episcopal residences.

The night session was given over to the Epworth league.

MINNEAPOLIS, May 15.—What is expected by the delegates to be one of the keenest debates of the present session of the general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church in session here is scheduled for tomorrow, when the report of the committee on the amendment question has been made a special order of business.

The report was to have come up for discussion today, but through a motion made yesterday by Chancellor James R. Day of Syracuse university was postponed because of the absence of certain members of the committee.

Chancellor Day, who favored in the committee the elimination of the paragraph prohibiting amendments and declared his belief that the Wesley doctrine of "individual conscience" should be reinstated, has served notice that a minority report will be presented.

The committee on the state of the church, by a vote of 100 to 33, favored the retention of the paragraph.

If the conference adopts the report of the committee on temperance and prohibition, the church temperance society will receive $100,000 for expenses during the coming year.

The elimination of one of the temperance societies of the church and the concentration of the fight on the liquor forces by aiding but one organization has been discussed but the committee favored the retention of the church temperance society.

Repeats Former Testimony.

Much of Mr. Topping's testimony was a repetition of what he told the Stanley investigation committee last summer, but he added some interesting information.

The corporation, although admitting that the Tennessee company was able to produce pig iron cheaper than the Northern furnace, maintained that owing to high freight rates the company could not successfully compete in the northern markets and was an unimportant competitor.

Mr. Topping was taken through the details of the transactions leading up to the acquisition of the Tennessee company, in which he had a share as a member of the syndicate of financiers including John W. Gates, Grant B. Smith, Earl C. Gish, Leonard C. Hanna and others, which obtained control of the company in 1909.

After stating that the syndicate originally had no intention of selling the property, and that its sole purpose was to make money out of it by developing it, the witness said Stanley had made overtures for the sale of his holdings to Lewis Cass Ledyard, the lawyer, who finally negotiated the deal for the corporation.

Don't Believe Pressure Was Used.

Did you hear or learn that Judge (Gary) Ledyard, H. C. Frick or the steel corporation did anything to bring about the situation that required the sale of this stock? asked R. V. Lindbergh of counsel for the defense.

"I did not and I do not now believe anything like that was done," said Mr. Topping.

The witness recited the now familiar story of the various meetings of financiers to take measures to check the public, including the Sunday meeting at J. P. Morgan's library where the Tennessee deal was alleged to have been arranged between members of the syndicate and Judge Gary and H. C. Frick for the corporation.

Bearing on the allegations of the government that there were price understandings among steel manufacturers up to a comparatively recent date, Mr. Topping testified to having notified Judge Gary and other manufacturers to take measures to check the price of bars, a year ago, before the public announced the cut. This was practically the same testimony he gave before the Stanley committee.

Novel Method of Testing "Tona Vita" Interests Popular.

RESULTS OBTAINED SHORTLY

Show That Healing Virtue Is Possessed by the New Tonic.

The specialists who are introducing "Tona Vita" the new tonic, to Colorado Springs people, continued to give their "five-minute demonstration" yesterday. These demonstrations are certainly a novel method of testing a medicine, and are proving very successful.

A hundred or more people who were given the medicine and five minutes later asked what effect it had in their case, all replied that they had been benefited, and most of them expressed astonishment.

The specialists are entirely confident the medicine will prove as successful in this country as in Europe, and predict a tremendous success for it in Colorado Springs. The one who discussed this said "Without a question no preparation like this has ever been sold in America and I prophesy that no preparation will approach this in volume of sales once it is established here. There is just as much nervous debility in this country as abroad, and 'Tona Vita' will make fully as great a record here as the original did in Europe. That medicine has been and is used by Kings, Dukes, Cardinals—in fact, by the greatest personages of Europe. We are talking with a great many people every day now, but in a few days more the number will be quadrupled.

"Every man or woman who has been afflicted with chronic debility who tries 'Tona Vita' will become a walking advertisement for the medicine, and that sort of thing spreads like wild-fire. Anyone who has been half sick all the time, with almost no vitality or energy, a constant sufferer from despondency, stomach trouble, weak back, headache, and a dozen other troubles, caused by debility, is sure to tell about it when he finds something that gives him back buoyant spirits, sound digestion, and general good health.

"The public does not realize what a tremendous number of people among those who live in the larger towns, are afflicted with nervous debility, in a more or less aggravated form. Nor does the public recognize the symptoms of this modern plague when they see them. Most of the so-called kidney trouble, nearly all indigestion, and fully half of the headaches in Colorado Springs can be attributed solely to nervous debility."

The "Tona Vita" sale and demonstrations are taking place at the Robinson Drug Company. Between the hours of 9 a. m. and 8 p. m. the speakers meet callers and explain the nature of their remarkable preparation.

armistic, the Roosevelt delegates met in caucus in Knights of Pythias hall at 9:30 a. m., and in the course of the proceedings called the roll, but did nothing to organize a convention.

Word was carried to the Taft delegates in the Grand theater, three blocks distant, that the Roosevelt delegates had broken the armistice and were holding their convention. The Taft delegates were called to order, an announcement was made that the Roosevelt men had broken their pledge and were holding a convention. Angry speeches were made and war was declared. Meantime the Roosevelt delegates in their hall did nothing toward organization until assured that the Taft convention was actually in progress.

Roosevelt Delegates Ejected.

Eleven counties, with 130 votes, were entirely unrepresented in the Taft convention, and seven counties, with 81 votes, were unrepresented in the Roosevelt convention.

Extreme care was taken in the Roosevelt convention with the intent that every step would bear investigation by the national committee in hearing the contest in Chicago. Several uncontented Roosevelt delegates attempted to enter the Taft convention hall and were not only refused admittance, but were thrown down the theater steps by police. Affidavits to this effect will be sent to Chicago.

At the night session a platform was adopted. It instructs the delegates to the national convention to use all honorable means to secure the nomination of Theodore Roosevelt for the presidency, and "if it be clearly shown in the convention that Roosevelt cannot be secured to use their efforts to nominate Robert M. La Follette or some other progressive candidate."

The convention adjourned sine die at 9:30 p. m.

discredit and to his advantage. Now I acted on the recommendation of Mr. Taft, when he was my secretary of war."

Colonel Roosevelt held up a copy of the annual report of the secretary of war for 1906 and read an extract from it in which reference was made to the Brownsville affair.

"There is Mr. Taft's own report upon which I acted," he continued. "I acted on the recommendation of Mr. Taft, when he was my secretary of war."

In seven of his speeches, Colonel Roosevelt charged that he was being opposed in the campaign by Democrats as well as by members of his own party. In some places the crowds were so large that Roosevelt had difficulty in getting to and from the place of speaking. He went to the Soldiers' line and addressed the veterans there. In the evening he spoke to a large crowd in Memorial hall. After delivering his speech here, Colonel Roosevelt departed for Greeleyville where he is to make his first address tomorrow.

trains noticed an elderly gentleman fall to the sidewalk. He was dressed in an ordinary business suit and appeared to be a well-to-do tradesman.

The passenger ran to the spot to assist him, but he was dead. A policeman was called who had the body conveyed in an automobile to the coroner's office. The coroner's inquest found that death had been instantaneous. There was nothing on the body which afforded a clue to its identity.

Negroes Indorse President.

RALEIGH, N. C., May 15.—Negro Republicans of North Carolina held a state convention here today and named four delegates-at-large whom their claim will be sent to the Chicago convention. Two were instructed for Taft and two for Roosevelt.

Idaho Convention Today.

LEWISTON, Ida., May 15.—Delegates from all parts of the state arrived today for the state Republican convention, which meets here at noon tomorrow, to name eight delegates to the national convention. Roosevelt leaders claim control, and say the last night seems to be whether an instructed Roosevelt delegation will be sent to the national meeting or Roosevelt men named as delegates and sent uninstructed. Taft supporters announce tonight that they are gaining strength hourly and have a chance of an even break in the convention.

Latest Montana Estimates.

LIVINGSTON, Mont., May 15.—Advisers of the Taft and Roosevelt factions of the Republican party of Montana met here today.

Contests developed from three counties. They were referred to a sub-committee of the state central committee, composed of Taft adherents.

Latest estimates for the Taft forces are 42 delegates for Taft and 215 for Roosevelt to the Chicago convention.

NORTON, Kan.

May 15.—Sixth district delegates to the Republican national convention: E. S. Bower, Lincoln, and E. M. Mabe, Graham, instructed for Roosevelt.

ST. PAUL, Minn.

May 15.—Four delegates and four alternates were elected to the national Republican convention by the Fourth Minnesota district convention. Each delegate will be only one-half at the convention and all will be instructed for Roosevelt.

First district Republicans in convention at Rochester today selected two delegates to the national convention instructed for Roosevelt.

Two Eighth district delegates to the national Republican convention instructed for Roosevelt were chosen today at Pine City. Two delegates from each of the Second, Sixth and Seventh districts were chosen today, instructed for Roosevelt.

COPENHAGEN, May 15.

The body of King Frederick VIII will lie in state in the chapel of Christiansburg palace where hundreds of swedes already have arrived. The funeral services will be held at the cathedral containing the tomb of most of the Danish kings.

Utah for Taft.

PROVO, Utah, May 15.—Eight delegates to the Republican national convention were added to the Taft column at the Utah state convention today.

According to the regulations adopted, the Utah delegation was pledged to "use all honorable means to secure President Taft's renomination."

A minority of the regulations committee recommended that the delegates be instructed for the delegates who will best represent the sentiment of the whole party to secure victory for the Republican party.

Speakers for the minority report admitted that they desired the nomination of Theodore Roosevelt.

friends hailed the outcome as a Clark victory. Immediately after the convention had adjourned, Clark leaders declared that 23 of the 30 members of the delegation were for Clark.

Clark managers were aided in their fight against the Wilson faction by a contingent of Speaker Clark's friends from Missouri and Arkansas who took advantage of latent sentiment among delegates for an uninstructed delegation to the national convention to advance the cause of the Missourian.

Coming to Bay City with a claim of 42 instructed delegates out of a total of 124 in the state convention, the Wilson managers were loath to give up their apparent early advantage. They only quit the struggle when the Clark leaders, who had crystallized sentiment over night, threatened to go on the floor and call for Clark instructions.

Forced to Drop Plans.

Results in 12 district caucuses, in eight of which anti-Wilson sentiment was dominant, caused the Wilson faction to finally drop plans for a fight on the floor.

Chief interest, once the Wilson Clark matter was out of the way, centered in the selection of the six delegates-at-large to the Baltimore convention.

Resolutions adopted denounce the Payne-Aldrich tariff law and pledge the party to an "honest reduction" of the tariff; denounce the "wanton extension" of the federal administration of revenue and other legislation passed by the last congress; favor the strict limitation of issues of stocks and bonds on all public corporations to actual investment; advocated strict conservation of national resources; commend the Democrats in congress "for their wise, courageous and statesmanlike efforts to pass much needed legislation in the interests of the whole people," favor a national income tax; favor the federal control of the St. Lawrence river; and commend the principle of the senatorial and presidential preference primary.

Clark Leads in Iowa.

BURLINGTON, Ia., May 15.—Close observers of the situation expressed the opinion tonight that the Iowa Democratic state convention tomorrow likely will send a solid delegation to the Baltimore convention instructed to vote for Champ Clark.

Former Congressman Jamieson, manager of the Clark campaign, has more than 600 of the 1,084 votes in the convention on the passage of a resolution instructing the state's 24 delegates for his candidate.

The fight will hinge on this question, and the Wilson men expect material assistance from the Bryan and Harman men in their effort to upset the Clark program. If the resolution to instruct for Clark should be defeated, Iowa will send a divided delegation with 24 for Clark and six for Wilson.

Talk of the possibility of stampeding the convention for William J. Bryan subsided when it became known that it is the wish of the Nebraska state delegates instructed for him to be named.

Clark managers, it is said, have the necessary vote to elect the four delegates-at-large in addition to the delegates from the First, Second, Fourth, Fifth, Sixth, Seventh, Eighth and Ninth districts, which would give them 30 of the state's 24 delegates without instructions.

The Wilson adherents claim they will elect the district delegates from the Third, Tenth and Eleventh, which

S.S.S. DRIVES OUT RHEUMATISM

Rheumatism is due to an excess of uric acid, an irritating, inflammatory accumulation, which gets into the circulation because of weak kidney, constipation, indigestion, and other physical irregularities which are usually considered of no importance. Nothing applied externally can ever reach the seat of this trouble; the most such treatment can do is soothe the pains temporarily; while potent and other mineral medicines really add to the acidity of the blood, and this fact therefore continues to grow more acid and irritated. Then instead of nourishing the different muscles and joints, keeping them in a normally supple and elastic condition, it gradually hardens and stiffens them by drying up the natural oils and fluids. Rheumatism can never be cured until the blood is purified. S. S. S. thoroughly cleanses and renews the circulation by neutralizing the acids and driving the cause from the system. It strengthens and invigorates the blood so that instead of a sour, weak stream, depositing acid and painful corrosive matter in the muscles, joints and bones, it nourishes the entire body with pure, rich blood and permanently cures Rheumatism. S. S. S. cures all rheumatic, all kinds of skin diseases, but is made entirely of roots, herbs and salts of great purifying and tonic properties. NASHVILLE, Tenn., May 15.—The Democratic convention, which chose the entire state delegation, casting 24 votes in the national convention, expressed no preference for a presidential nominee, an adopted resolution tonight not to instruct the delegation.

Hot Meeting in Mississippi.

JACKSON, Miss., May 15.—The Mississippi Democratic convention here today ratified the election of 20 delegates to the national convention, selected as the presidential preference primary of May 7, instructed for Oscar Underwood for president so long as his name shall be before the convention; adopted a bitterly contested resolution placing the delegation under the "unit rule" on all matters at Baltimore, and adopted a platform declaring for the repeal of the fourteenth amendment to the federal constitution "not to deprive the negro of his just dues, but to benefit him in the preservation of a white man's civilization."

After walking a block from the convention hall, where he had put up a vigorous fight against the "unit rule" and had been ratified as delegate-at-large, C. H. Alexander dropped dead. He was an opponent of Senator Le Roy Percy in the last primary and prominent in Mississippi politics. An alternate will take his place.

A SENSATION AT ARCHBALD HEARING

WASHINGTON, May 15.—Edward J. Williams of Scranton, Pa., chief witness so far in the house judiciary committee's investigation of the alleged transaction between Judge Robert W. Archbald and the Commerce court case, the railroad, furnished a sensation at today's hearing when he denounced William P. Boland, also of Scranton, and author of the charges against the jurist, as "a traitor, a cut throat and a dangerous man."

Williams hotly denounced Boland, who sat within arms length, he also charged him with once having "doped" a lawyer in Scranton to get certain information. By the time the stir was over, Williams had further complicated his testimony.

He repudiated a letter signed to him and sent to President Connally by the Katydid club bank from Williams and Archbald after they had secured an option upon it from the Erie.

Did He Photograph Letters First?

A photograph of the letter is in possession of the department of justice. A reference in the letter to a party with whom you have been dealing," was construed to mean Judge Archbald, Attorney Worthington for the judge, sought to bring out an inference that Boland had snatched the letter and photographed it before it was sent to Conn.

Williams on the stand declared he had never seen it and that it was not his.

"Do you recollect Mr. Williams, that you are under oath and might be punished for false swearing?" asked Representative McCoy of New Jersey.

"Yes I know that," answered Williams.

"Do you think it possible that you might have been under the influence of liquor when you signed this letter of Conn?"

"Yes, it's possible. Williams answered. "Boland might have taken advantage of me. He's that kind of a man, according to his words to me. He told me about copying all these letters after I had been before the attorney general. He said 'You didn't know what I was doing, you were as innocent as a child.' I was, too. I didn't know what Boland was doing because he is a traitor, a cut throat, a dangerous man."

FIVE FATALITIES IN FOREST FIRES

SEATTLE, Wash., May 15.—Five lives known to be lost, two men missing and property damaged several hundred thousand dollars are the results of several forest fires which swept over the northwestern part of Washington yesterday and last night. The fires are still burning uncontrolled, but in most sections the situation shows improvement, and unless a wind springs up there is little fear of further disaster.

The only loss of life reported occurred in the fire which destroyed four logging camps in Skagit county. Fifty million feet of green timber were destroyed by this fire. Other fires in western Washington brought the total timber destroyed to 70,000,000 feet.

TAFT TO KEEP ON ATTACKING

OUTLINES HIS CAMPAIGN AGAINST ROOSEVELT

Use of Personalities Will Be Chief Source of Ammunition to End of Fight

SANDUSKY, O., May 15.—President Taft's campaign against Mr. Roosevelt is as long as he is in the campaign for re-election. No matter whether Mr. Roosevelt ceases his personal attack on the president or not, Mr. Taft intends to keep up his campaign of criticism of the former president and outline the achievements of the Taft administration. In a half dozen short speeches he made today Mr. Taft emphatically declared that it was not time now for Mr. Roosevelt to preach the doctrine of "no personalities."

"Having called me everything in the category of bad names, that are mentioned in polite society, Mr. Roosevelt now wishes to institute to less emphatic expressions," said Mr. Taft at Bucyrus.

"Mr. Roosevelt is now going about Ohio saying he will not condescend to personalities with me," Mr. Taft shouted at Mansfield. "If he had reached that conclusion two months ago, I should not be here to talk to you at all. But having applied to me every name in the calendar, and now coming back to Ohio and fearing its effects, he says, 'Let's have no personalities.'"

"I am here to answer the charges that he is continuing to make, although he does not roar so loudly and does not use so many epithets. Our merchants don't forget those things."

Hoarseness Handicaps Him.

"I may be puzzle-witted, but I know the difference between plain truth and plain fiction, and there are some people that I don't think do."

Mr. Taft spoke 12 times today, including his night address here. He started out with the handicap of unusual hoarseness, seemed to conquer it after a time in the morning, but later it returned worse than ever, and at several towns Mr. Taft could speak only for a few minutes.

He brought in the name of Mr. Roosevelt time after time. "I deny," he said, "that Theodore Roosevelt and his election are essential to the happiness of the American people." "You would think from the way he talked that we were a very oppressed people. Well, I have no doubt that there is room for improvement, but I think that we are getting along fairly well, and we are not in a condition of dissolution so that we need a capital operation in the form of Theodore Roosevelt for a third term."

The president departed tonight for Cleveland.

SUIT ON IN FLORIDA

Hearing is in progress in the Florida supreme court in the suit of William O'Brien against Richard J. Bolles, on an appeal from the Florida circuit court, according to press dispatches, yesterday. The action involves more than $1,000,000.

Several months ago the circuit court decided that O'Brien was entitled to a one-fourth interest in the Florida Land company, of which Bolles is a large stockholder, on the strength of an alleged contract entered into by O'Brien and Bolles. Bolles repudiated the contract claimed by O'Brien, and when the circuit court decided against him, appealed to the supreme court in Florida.

REELECT DIRECTORS OF ANACONDA COPPER M. CO.

BUTTE, Mont., May 15.—At the annual meeting of the Anaconda Copper Mining company, held in Anaconda, today, the following directors were re-elected: J. J. Thayer, William Rockefeller, John Ryan, H. H. Rogers, C. F. Kelley, Urban H. Broughton and George H. Church.

The election of officers will be held at the next meeting of the directors. Dividends declared during the year exceeded the profits by $55,051.24. This difference was more than offset by items of extraordinary repairs and development work amounting to $55,051.24.

Don't Believe Pressure Was Used

"Did you hear or learn that Judge Gary, Ledyard, H. C. Erick or the steel corporation did anything to bring about the situation that required the sale of this stock?" asked B. V. Lindbury of counsel for the defense.

"I did not and I do not now believe anything like that was done," said Mr. Topping.

The witness recited the now familiar story of the various meetings of financiers to take measures to check the panic, including the Sunday meeting at J. P. Morgan's library where the Tennessee deal was alleged to have been arranged between members of the syndicate and Judge Gary and H. C. Erick for the corporation.

Bearing on the allegations of the government that there were price understandings among steel manufacturers up to a comparatively recent date, Mr. Topping testified to having notified Judge Gary and other manufacturers of his intention to cut the price of bars, a year ago, before he publicly announced the cut. This was practically the same testimony he gave before the Stanley committee.

many of Bishop Moore's comrades had hidden their faces in handkerchiefs. What effect the retirement of the three bishops will have on the election tomorrow, as it is expected that the Episcopal committee will report then concerning the number recommended for election. It is said the committee will recommend at least eight new bishops and probably more, and that it also will recommend seven new Episcopal residences.

The night session was given over to the Epworth league.

MINNEAPOLIS, May 15.—What is expected by delegates to be one of the keenest debates of the present session of the general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, in session here, is scheduled for tomorrow, when the report of the committee on the amendment question has been made. The report was to have come up for discussion today, but through a motion made yesterday by Chancellor James R. Day of Syracuse university was postponed because of the absence of certain members of the committee.

Chancellor Day, who favored in the committee the elimination of the paragraph prohibiting amusements and declared his belief that the Wesley doctrine of "individual conscience" should be reinstated, has served notice that a minority report will be presented. The committee on the state of the church, by a vote of 100 to 31, favored the retention of the paragraph.

If the conference adopts the report of the committee on temperance and prohibition, the church temperance society will receive $50,000 for expenses during the coming quadrennium.

The elimination of one of the temperance societies of the church and the concentration of the fight of the liquor forces by aiding but one organization has been discussed, but the committee favored the retention of the church temperance society.

Repeats Former Testimony

Much of Mr. Topping's testimony was a repetition of what he told the Stanley steel investigation committee last summer, but he added some interesting information. The corporation, although admitting that the Tennessee company was able to produce pig iron cheaper than the Northern furnaces, maintained that owing to high freight rates the company could not successfully compete in the northern markets and was an unimportant competitor.

Mr. Topping was taken through the details of the transactions leading up to the acquisition of the Tennessee company, in which he had a share as a member of the syndicate of financiers including John W. Gates, Grant B. Schley, Earl Oglebay, Leonard C. Schreyer and others.

control of the company in 1898. After saying that the syndicate originally had no intention of selling the property, and that its sole purpose was to make money out of it by developing it, the witness said Schley had made overtures for the sale of his holdings to Lewis Cass Ledyard, the lawyer, who finally negotiated the deal for the corporation.

Normal Method of Testing "Tona Vita" Interests

Populace.

RESULTS OBTAINED SHORTLY

Show That Healing Virtue Is Possessed by the New Tonic.

The specialists who are introducing "Tona Vita," the new tonic, to Colorado Springs people, continued to give their "five-minute demonstration" yesterday. These demonstrations are certainly a novel method of testing a medicine, and are proving very successful.

A hundred or more people who were given the medicine and five minutes later asked what effect it had on them, all replied that they had been benefited, and most of them expressed astonishment.

The specialists are entirely confident the medicine will prove as successful in this country as in Europe, and predict a tremendous success for it in Colorado Springs. The one who discussed this said: "Without a question no preparation like this has ever been sold in America and I prophesy that no time of sales will be established here. There is just as much nervous debility in this country as abroad, and 'Tona Vita' will make fully as great a record here as the original did in Europe. That medicine has been and is used by Kings, Dukes, Cardinals—in fact, by the greatest personages of Europe. Anyone who has been half sick all the time, with almost no vitality or energy, a constant sufferer from despondency, stomach trouble, weak back, headache and a dozen other troubles, caused by debility, is sure to tell about it when he finds something that gives him back buoyant spirits, sound digestion, and general good health."

"The public does not realize what a tremendous number of people among those who live in the larger towns, are afflicted with nervous debility, in a more or less aggravated form. Nor does the public recognize the symptoms of this modern plague when they see them. Most of the so-called kidney trouble, nearly all indigestion, and fully half of the headaches in Colorado Springs, can be attributed solely to nervous debility."

The "Tona Vita" sale and demonstrations are taking place at the Robinson Drug Company. Between the hours of 9 a. m. and 8 p. m. the specialists meet callers and explain the nature of their remarkable preparation.

discredit and to his advantage. Now I acted on the recommendation of Mr. Taft, when he was my secretary of war.

Colonel Roosevelt held up a copy of the annual report of the secretary of war for 1906 and read an extract from it in which reference was made to the Brownsville affair.

"There is Mr. Taft's own report, upon which I acted," he continued. "I do not shift any responsibility upon Mr. Taft. I take it all. But Mr. Taft should be responsible for his action, too."

In seven of his speeches, Colonel Roosevelt charged that he was being opposed in the campaign by Democrats as well as by members of his own party. In some places the crowds were so great that Colonel Roosevelt had difficulty in getting to and from the place of speaking. He went to the Soldiers home and addressed the veterans there in the evening. He spoke to a large crowd in Memorial hall. After delivering his speech here, Colonel Roosevelt departed for Greenville, where he is to make his first address tomorrow.

fruits noticed an elderly gentleman fall to the sidewalk. He was dressed in an ordinary business suit and appeared to be a well-to-do tradesman. The passerby ran to the spot to assist him, but he was dead. A policeman was called who had the body conveyed in an automobile to the soldiers' hospital. The physicians on duty found that death had been instantaneous. There was nothing on the body which afforded a clue to its identity.

it was only much later in the evening that the royal suite, which had become anxious owing to the king's absence, heard of the incident that had occurred on the goose market.

As their inquiries in regard to the king's movements had up to then proved fruitless they, together with the proprietor of the hotel, proceeded to the hospital to look at the body there. On arrival at the hospital they were confronted by the tragic fact that the dead man was the king.

Arrangements were immediately made for the body to be conveyed to the hotel, where it was laid out amid masses of flowers.

armistice, the Roosevelt delegates met in caucus in Knights of Pythias hall at 9:30 a. m., and in the course of the proceedings called the roll, but did nothing to organize a convention. Word was carried to the delegates in the Grand theater, three blocks away, that the Roosevelt delegates had broken the armistice and were holding their convention. The Taft delegates were called to order, announcement was made that the Roosevelt men had broken their pledge and were holding a convention. Angry speeches were made and war was declared. Meantime the Roosevelt delegates in their hall did nothing toward organization until assured that the Taft convention was actually in progress.

Roosevelt Delegates Ejected.

Eleven counties, with 180 votes, were entirely unrepresented in the Taft convention, and seven counties, with 81 votes, were unrepresented in the Roosevelt convention.

An extreme case was taken in the Roosevelt convention with the intent that every step would bear investigation by the national committee in hearing the contest in Chicago. Several uncontented Roosevelt delegates allege that they attempted to enter the Taft convention hall and were not only refused admittance, but were thrown down the theater steps by policemen. Affidavits to this effect will be sent to Chicago.

At the night session a platform was adopted. It instructs the delegates to the national convention to use all honorable means to secure the nomination of Theodore Roosevelt for the presidency, and if it is clearly shown that the convention will not nominate him, then the delegates shall be free to use their efforts to nominate Robert M. La Follette or some other progressive candidate.

The convention adjourned sine die at 9:30 p. m.

Progressive Busy in Arizona

PHOENIX, Ariz., May 15.—Roosevelt men obtained control of two county committee meetings in Arizona today, and promptly ordered primaries for the choosing of delegates to the state convention at Tucson, June 2.

Taft men in this county, however, held a separate meeting of their own and decided to meet again May 25, the date of the proposed county preference primary, and appoint delegates to the Tucson convention. A contest that may be carried to the Republican national convention in Chicago probably will result.

The other struggle between the opposing Taft and Roosevelt forces occurred in Graham county, where the colonel's supporters pursued the same tactics and ordered a primary also for May 25.

Bitter Attack on Taft

RALEIGH, N. C., May 15.—In a state convention marked by bitter attacks on President Taft, North Carolina's four delegates-at-large to the Chicago convention, were instructed today to vote for Theodore Roosevelt, "first, last, and all the time," so long as his name is before the convention.

A declaration in favor of Roosevelt by Isaac Meekins, one of the instructed delegates from the first district, made certain for Roosevelt 23 of the state's 24 votes in the Chicago convention. Wheeler Martin, the other instructed delegate from the first district, was not bound by the state convention's action.

Negroes Indorse President

RALEIGH, N. C., May 15.—Negro Republicans of North Carolina held a state convention here today and named four delegates-at-large, whom they claim will be sent to the Chicago convention. Two were instructed for Taft and two for Roosevelt.

Idaho Convention Today

LEWISTON, Ida., May 15.—Delegates from all parts of the state arrived today for the state Republican convention, which meets here at noon tomorrow, to name eight delegates to the national convention. Roosevelt leaders claim control, and say the issue tonight seems to be whether an instructed Roosevelt delegation will be sent to the national meeting or Roosevelt men named as delegates and sent uninstructed. Taft supporters announce tonight that they are gaining strength hourly and have a chance of an even break in the convention.

Latest Montana Estimates

LIVINGSTON, Mont., May 15.—Advances guards of the Taft and Roosevelt factions of the Republican party of Montana met here today.

Contests developed from three counties. They were referred to a subcommittee of the state central committee, composed of Taft adherents.

Latest estimates by the Taft forces are 422 delegates for Taft and 218 for Roosevelt to the Chicago convention.

NORTON, Kan., May 15.—Sixth district delegates to the Republican national convention, E. S. Bower, Lincoln, and E. Mahabir, Graham, instructed for Roosevelt.

ST. PAUL, Minn., May 15.—Four delegates and four alternates were elected to the national Republican convention by the Fourth Minnesota district convention. Each delegate will

S.S.S. DRIVES OUT RHEUMATISM

Rheumatism is due to an excess of uric acid, an irritating, inflammatory accumulation, which gets into the circulation because of weak kidneys, constipation, indigestion, and other physical irregularities which are usually considered of no importance. Nothing applied externally can ever reach the seat of this trouble; the more such treatment is done is so much the pain temporarily relieved, while uric acid continues to collect in the blood, and this acid therefore continuously grows more solid and vitiated. Then instead of nourishing the different muscles and joints, keeping them in a normally supple and elastic condition, it gradually hardens and stiffens them by drying up the natural oils and fluids. Rheumatism can never be cured until the blood is purified. S. S. S. thoroughly cleanses and renovates the circulation by neutralizing the acids and driving the cause from the system. It strengthens and invigorates the blood so that instead of a sour, weak stream, depositing acid and painful poisons in the muscles, joints and bones, it nourishes the entire body with pure, rich blood and permanently cures Rheumatism. S. S. S. contains no poisons, and is made of purest and healthful mineral, but is made entirely of roots, herbs and barks of great purifying and tonic properties. have one-half a vote at the convention and all are instructed for Roosevelt.

First district Republicans in convention at Rochester today selected two delegates to the national convention instructed for Roosevelt.

Two Eighth district delegates to the national Republican convention instructed for Roosevelt were chosen today at Pine City. Two delegates from each of the Second, Sixth and Seventh districts were chosen today, instructed for Roosevelt.

BATTLE CREEK, Mich., May 15.—Third district delegates to the Republican national convention, J. Schaberg and John C. Potter, instructed for Roosevelt.

Utah for Taft.

PROVO, Utah, May 15.—Eight delegates to the Republican national convention were added to the Taft column at the Utah state convention today.

According to the regulations adopted, the Utah delegation was pledged to "use all honorable means to secure President Taft's re-nomination."

A minority of the regulations committee recommended that the delegates be instructed for the delegates who will best represent the sentiment of the whole party to secure victory for the Republican party.

FURTHER REPORTS SHOW

friends hailed the outcome as a Clark victory. Immediately after the convention had adjourned, Clark leaders declared that 23 of the 30 members of the delegation were for Clark.

Clark managers were aided in their fight against the Wilson faction by a contingent of Speaker Clark's friends from Missouri and Arkansas who took advantage of latent sentiment among delegates for an uninstructed delegation to the national convention to advance the cause of the Missouri delegation to Bay City with a claim of 424 instructed delegates out of a total of 1,334 in the state convention, the Wilson managers were loath to give up their apparent early advantage. They only quit the struggle when the Clark leaders, who had crystallized sentiment over night, threatened to go on the floor and call for Clark instructions.

Forced to Drop Plans.

Results in 12 district caucuses, in eight of which anti-Wilson sentiment was dominant, caused the Wilson faction to finally drop plans for a fight on the floor.

Chief interest, once the Wilson Clark matter was out of the way, centered in the selection of the six delegates-at-large to the Baltimore convention.

Resolutions adopted denounce the Payne-Aldrich tariff law and pledge the party to an "honest reduction" of the tariff; denounce the "wanton extravagance of the federal administration;" condemn President Taft for his veto of revenue and other legislation passed by the last congress; favor the strict limitation of issues of stocks and bonds on all public corporations to actual investment; advocated strict conservation of national resources; commend the Democrats in congress for their wise, courageous and statesmanlike efforts to pass much needed legislation in the interests of the whole people; favor a national income tax favor the election of United States senators by direct vote of the people and commend the principle of the senatorial and presidential preference primary.

Clark Leads in Iowa.

BURLINGTON, Ia., May 15.—Close observers of the situation expressed the opinion tonight that the Iowa Democratic state convention tomorrow likely will send a solid delegation to the Baltimore convention instructed to vote for Champ Clark.

Former Congressman Jamieson, manager for Clark, declared Clark would have more than 80 of the 100 votes in the convention on the passage of a resolution instructing the state's 25 delegates for his candidate.

The fight will hinge on this question, and the Wilson men expect material assistance from the Bryan and Harmon men in their effort to upset the Clark program. If the resolution to instruct for Clark should be defeated, Iowa will send a divided delegation with 30 for Clark and 20 for Wilson.

Talk of the possibility of stampeding the convention for William J. Bryan subsided when it became known that it is the wish of the Nebraska that no delegates instructed for him be named.

Clark managers, it is said, have the necessary vote to elect the four delegates-at-large, in addition to the delegates from the First, Second, Fourth, Fifth, Sixth, Seventh, Eighth and Ninth districts, which would give them 30 of the state's 25 delegates without instructions.

The Wilson adherents claim they will elect the district delegates from the Third, Tenth and Eleventh, which SOCIALISTS UPHOLD I. W. W.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 15.—Overriding and rebuking the national executive committee, the delegates of the national Socialist convention today voted to recognize and aid the Industrial Workers of the World at San Diego, Cal., in the campaign for the speech.

Word was received here yesterday that Edward Gee, a former resident of Colorado Springs and brother of Mrs. Edward Longbottom of this city, did not sail on the Titanic, as was thought. A cable from England was received by his son, in San Francisco, and forwarded to Mrs. Longbottom, saying that he is alive and well. The Arthur Gee who perished on the Titanic was from the same town in England as the former Springs man of the same name.

COAST ENTERTAINED HERE

The bunch of 55 boosters representing the Pacific Coast Advertising Men's association put in yesterday morning viewing the scenic beauties of the Pike Peak region, arriving here at an early hour in the morning and departing at noon for Denver. They were shown in autos through the courtesy of the Crystal Park company, to Stratton park, whence they took carriages and busses up South Cheyenne canon to Seven Falls, as the guests of the South Cheyenne Canon and Seven Falls Development company and the Cheyenne Canon Burro and Luggage company. It had been planned by President Dotterer to take the visitors on the Crystal park trip, but the muddy roads made this impracticable. The ad men were enthusiastic about the region, and expressed themselves as highly pleased with the entertainment accorded them here.

The Real Secret of Rejuvenating the Face

(From The Club Woman.)

She holds the true secret of facial rejuvenation who has learned how to remove the dead skin particles as fast as they appear. It is a secret anyone may possess. The aged, faded or discolored surface skin may be gradually absorbed, in an entirely safe and rational manner, by the application of an ordinary mercurized wax. Within a week or two the underlying skin, youthful and beautiful to behold, has taken the place of the discarded cuticle. So little of the old skin is absorbed each day there's no inconvenience at all, and no one suspects you are putting anything on your face. The mercurized wax, procurable at any drug store (an ounce is sufficient), is applied like cold cream. In the morning it is erased with soap and water. It's the best thing known for freckles, blackheads, pimples, moth patches, liver spots and fine surface wrinkles. For the deeper wrinkles an excellent recipe is: Powdered Colloidal, 1 oz., dissolved in 4 qt. witch hazel. Bathing the face in this solution produces quick and wonderful results.

OCEANIC PICKS UP BOAT CONTAINING THREE BODIES

Were Left at Time of Titanic Disaster, After Living Persons Had Been Rescued

NEW YORK, May 15.—A message received today by the White Star line from the steamer Oceanic en route to New York, reported the picking up of a collapsible boat from the sunken steamer Titanic, containing three bodies. The boat was found according to the message, May 14, in latitude 39.56 north, longitude 49.41 west. The message reads:

"May 12 latitude 39.56 north, longitude 49.41 west, picked up collapsible boat containing three bodies. Committed same to deep. The apparently Thomson (Baltic) passenger; one sailing one from an unidentified ship. Also took with letters in addressed to Richard A. Williams; one came Duane Williams. A ring was in boat. The scullion Edward and Gracie."

Signed, "COMMANDER."

The collapsible boat referred to in the message, it was said at the White Star office, is the one mentioned by Officer Lowe in his testimony before the senate committee, from which he took into his boat 29 men and one woman, leaving on board three bodies.

PRaises Governor GEN. OF PHILIPPINE ISLANDS

NEW YORK, May 15.—High praise is accorded the administration of W. Cameron Forbes, governor general of the Philippine islands, by President Taft in a letter read at a complimentary dinner given to Governor General Forbes last night by men prominent in commerce and finance.

"Nothing would give me greater pleasure than to attend the dinner to be given for Governor General Forbes because of the high appreciation I have for Governor General Forbes' weighty contribution to the successful solution of our problem in those islands. It is only partly worked out and it needs a good many more years in which to vindicate the course that we have taken and to fit the Philippine people to assume the responsibilities of complete self-government. Were we now or within a short time to leave the islands, we should leave them under conditions which would hardly bring about chaos and the good that we have done there would largely be lost."

"We are teaching these people the English language. We are teaching them the fundamental principles of the government. We are giving them roads and health and personal comfort in their daily lives such as they never have enjoyed before and such that they are not likely to retain unless we continue to assist them for years to come."

BRUTAL MURDER REVEALED

DURANGO, Colo., May 15.—The Mexican habitation of Ignacio was started to the verge of lynching when the murder of Martina Atencio was unraveled by the county authorities. Juan Garcia is held for the crime.

The crime was the most brutal in the history of La Plata county. The murdered man's head was split open last night by blows from a bludge, being spilled all over the bed and room. The motive is alleged to have been infatuation over the slain man's wife, who is the mother of five small children. The wife of the murdered man said her husband had been injured by a horse and had died from the effects of the wounds. Circumstances surrounding the death aroused suspicion, so this afternoon Sheriff McChesney, Coroner Hood and District Attorney Lane went to the Salazar ranch near Durango, the scene of the murder.

An examination showed that Atencio could not have been injured by a horse and tool play was suspected. Garcia was known to have been a caller at the Atencio home. The wife of Atencio is alleged to have charged that Garcia had murdered her husband at midnight as he lay in bed.

The woman said Garcia had used a double-edged ax and with the sharp edge had committed the crime.

MYSTERY OF MISSING CALF IS UP TO COURT

DENVER, May 15.—The whereabouts of a pet "Gold Bull" calf, marked by nature with three links across the forehead, is to be determined by the Colorado supreme court. On the answer hinge, the liberty and purse of the woman, a rancher from the town of Mead, E. Mitchell, who appeals to the supreme court.

The calf ambled away, according to Mrs. Mitchell. A year later, though grown to be a steer, she recognized him by the three links and the brand which she had placed on him with her own hands. Charles J. O'Connor, who represents the state, says Mrs. Mitchell butchered "Ringle," as he was affectionately called, and sold a part of his carcass to butchers in Glenwood Springs. His hide, with the mystic links, disappeared.

DEAD WOMAN WAS USER OF DRUGS AND LIQUORS

DENVER, May 15.—Mrs. Sadie Root McTurg died from alcoholism and addiction to heroin, an opiate, it was found, by a coroner's jury investigating the case yesterday.

Testimony given before the hearing, which was conducted by Deputy District Attorney J. J. Laton, showed that the woman had received the care of both a physician and a nurse prior to her death. The charges that she had died from neglect, it appeared, had grown out of gossip among the women living in the St. Francis hotel, where the death occurred. Most of the women are trained nurses and thought that a trained nurse should have been employed for Mrs. McTurg.

Wonderful Cures Reported in Germany.

The use of simple herbs as remedies instead of the now so-called and usually more dangerous isoelectric substances, has been revived very widely of late. "I MOVE WE SPIT ON IT"

ONE of the measures advocated by the Direct Legislation League is the Mothers' Compensation Act. This is intended to attain three ends. First, it provides that the state, through the proper courts, may make an allowance for the support of the children of indigent and helpless mothers. This allowance is to be paid to the mother, or to a proper person in trust for the mother, to be used for the children. Its object is to have the children at home instead of sending them to a state institution for dependent children. The county judge is to be allowed to order the payments under the law, but in any case the judge cannot order payments aggregating more than a total specified by the county commissioners. Similar legislation is in force in Illinois.

Second, the measure provides that children now supported in state institutions may be boarded out, always under control of the courts, with private families. The object of this provision is to place children under family influence without compelling the adoption of the child. The tendency of all state institutions, for dependent children, for the insane, for the tubercular, is toward the adoption of the cottage system in order to do away with the mechanical effects of large institutions upon the inmates. The cottage system has proven more expensive than the institutional system. Therefore, why not obtain the same results, i. e. home life, by the simpler, better, and less expensive boarding out system? Massachusetts has tried the plan with success.

Third, the measure provides for workhouses for fathers who are convicted of non-support. All that the courts can do under the present law is to grant lazy fathers a vacation in jail. The workhouse would substitute a self-supporting institution for a non-supporting one. Its establishment would be in line with the best tendencies of the times for dealing with the idle classes of the population.

A CASE OF CAUSE AND EFFECT.

When Judge Lindsey presented the arguments for these provisions of the Mothers' Compensation Act in this city before the Civic League he said that he had advocated some of the same provisions before a committee of the Colorado legislature. After the Judge had presented the bill to the committee one of its members said, "I move we spit on it."

"I move we spit on it" is "the public be damned" attitude that the legislature of Colorado has too frequently taken toward measures advocated by their constituents. The legislature of Colorado has not been alone in the "spit on it" attitude toward the public. It is for this reason that the initiative, the referendum and the recall have been so widely adopted in the United States. It is for this reason that we have the initiative and referendum in Colorado.

Legislators who have taken the "spit on it" attitude toward their constituents now maintain that representative government is being destroyed by direct legislation. If the people can secure a fair hearing from their representatives there is no probability that they will attempt the laborious task of obtaining 20,000 or 25,000 signatures to an initiative petition. Few realize the size of the task. It is equivalent to obtaining the signatures of every voter in El Paso and Pueblo counties combined.

The initiative is simply a remedy for the "spit on it" attitude of unrepresentative representatives. It will fall into disuse as soon as legislative bodies are truly responsive to their constituents. It is not the enemy but the hope of representative government.

EARLY FOREST FIRES

THE middle of May is an early time for forest fires, but already disastrous conflagrations are reported in Washington, the state which probably has the most exin the country. Within twenty miles of Seattle large areas have been devastated, and the loss is considerable.

The forest fire problem is one that demands the most serious consideration of Congress and the authorities of the Forest Service. There was a time when the forests of the United States were thought to be inexhaustible, but unfortunately it is past. Despite the increasing use of concrete and other substitutes for wood, the demand for timber of all sorts is greater than ever. At the same time the available supply is steadily diminishing. The natural result is a tremendous increase in the cost of every kind of lumber.

It is estimated that the waste in lumbering operations both necessary and unavoidable, and the loss through fire, is equal each year to the quantity of timber actually marketed. In other words, for every foot of timber turned to commercial usage, another foot is lost. This condition could be viewed with equanimity if the forests were as inexhaustible as the supply of fresh air, but it happens that they are fast diminishing. The demand for timber of all sorts will increase, or at least remain stationary, and the available supply will steadily diminish, unless it is increased by artificial means.

The Forest Service is doing everything in its power to conserve the national timber resources. Its Bureau of Wood Utilization is rendering valuable service to manufacturers by showing them the most economical methods of manufacture. But the cheeseparing attitude of Congress toward the Forest Service has seriously impaired the ability of this branch of the Government service to deal with the most serious problem of all—that of forest fires. Every summer the losses occasioned by fire amount to many times the cost of a thoroughly adequate system of protecting the public timber lands against this danger. Perhaps some day Congress will realize that the annual timber crop is of no less importance than the wheat crop or the corn crop, and will adopt a more liberal policy toward the Forest Service. Until that time comes we may expect a repetition yearly of fires in the national forests costing millions of dollars.

OPEN PARLIAMENT

THE PUBLICATION AMENDMENT.
To the Editor of The Gazette:
May I have a little space in the Open Parliament to call attention to the petition for the "Publication Amendment" now being circulated by the Direct Legislation League?

Good reasons can be shown why every progressive voter should sign this petition and vote for it next fall. First, the publication amendment provides that the people may propose and initiate as many amendments to the constitution as they see fit. The constitution as it is provides there shall be no amendments to more than six articles submitted at any one time.

This amendment also provides that initiated and referred laws shall be published as may be provided by law. If conflicting amendments or measures are submitted the amendment or measure or parts thereof, receiving the highest vote shall be adopted.

All constitutional amendments and initiated measures shall be submitted to a vote of the people at the next election held more than four months after the adjournment of the general assembly or after any initiated measure shall be filed with the secretary of state.

At first it may seem that if the people are allowed to propose as many constitutional amendments as they wish there may be danger of introducing a bewildering number of amendments and ill-considered amendments. But let it be remembered that it is no small task to properly frame a proposal and get the requisite number of signatures. Ignorant and fanatic factions will soon discover, as they did in Oregon, that such attempts will meet with failure.

On the other hand, if the constitutional limitation of six proposals by the people is allowed to stand there is danger that powerful and selfish special interests may draw up enough amendments in their own interest to prevent the people getting theirs in at all. So that even if the "interest" measures do not pass popular will will be thwarted because of this limitation.

The present requirement that all initiated and referred measures shall be published in the newspapers causes unnecessary expense, is out of place in the constitution, and should therefore be removed. If it is placed in the general laws of the state as the publication amendment provides the people will be free to adopt the Oregon pamphlet system, by which all the initiated measures are published together with short, concise arguments for and against in one pamphlet and are mailed to each voter.

The next provision that the amendment or measure be adopted simply provides a rule by which the law may be consistently interpreted in case of an occasional conflict, and is merely what common sense would dictate.

The last paragraph says that initiated laws shall be voted on at a reasonable time after initiation, so that a measure of the capital could not postpone its consideration at the hands of the voters. If the publication amendment were passed and the procedure bill also we would have the Oregon pamphlet system.

MOTHER AND CHILD.

To the Editor of The Gazette:
Being a resident of Manitou, and a mother of children who have attended the public schools, and having a lively interest in the proper training of our young people, I have been much impressed by the letter which appeared in The Gazette, signed "A Manitou Mother."

Really, I never suspected that the theory of evolution could be so destructive. Perhaps I have not understood, or have been wilfully deceived, will "A Manitou Mother" explain some future communication what she understands as the evolution theory, which she declares to be of sufficient force to destroy a child's faith in God. It has been said that each human being creates his own God, in other words we give to the deity those attributes which are strongest in ourselves.

If, for instance, a child has been taught in his parents that God created all things in six days, of 24 hours each, and should afterward attend a public school, and there learn that all things have been, and still are, being created through slow processes of change, does "A Manitou Mother" mean to imply that it is the six working days God who cannot stand before the evolution theory or that the eternal power, the true Creator of the Universe, sinks into indefinite because he has not been taught the proper knowledge of his own mind sufficiently to satisfy the demands of our rapid youth? Please have "A Manitou Mother" come again with explanations and illustrations.

It is sad thing to destroy the faith of a child. When first he learns that he has been taught an untruth, his faith is shaken in all things. So long as he lives, he has doubt. I once heard of a child who had enjoyed the Santa Claus myth, who was so demoralized at the discovery of the truth, that in relating to his younger brother the result of his investigations, exclaimed, "No, sir, there ain't no such thing as Santa Claus, nor nothin', and after Christmas I'm going to look into this 'Our Father who art in heaven' business."

Without doubt this "Manitou Mother" realizes the necessity of absolute truthfulness in dealing with the innocence of childhood. I notice that she desires, of all things, to preserve that innocence.

In regard to that fearful "bogey," sex hygiene, would "A Manitou Mother" meet me privately, and point out the peculiarly evil influence which this study could wield over our dear youth, which would "Manitou Mother" prefer, that her children

Centershots

By ED HOWE.

The people in a country town are about equally divided on every question, and keep each other from accomplishing much.

When you are disposed to be liberal, nearly anyone will take advantage of you.

If you have a disagreeable experience, people say the lesson will do you good. That's about all sympathy amounts to.

When you know a man who is 10 years older than you are, and you hear of his saying that he is younger, or about your age, it makes you mad.

People like to talk so well that there is nothing in half they say, they not only don't know, they don't care.

No doubt you have noticed that while your explanations explain thoroughly, they do not always satisfy.

After a man has been out of work a long time, people say he "lacks ambition."

Many a man who is not perfect is a tolerably good fellow, and useful in a modest way.

Compliments are often insincere, but fault finding is always genuine.

You demand that others be perfect, but you fall along about as usual.

Lay Preachers

By WALT MASON.

Ah, my weary heart is reaching for repentance and true for so many men are preaching that I don't know what to do. Tired and stricken, I determine some fat novel to peruse, and the book turns out a sermon, and my soul contracts the blues. Worn by worldly strife and bounding to the show I go and find that the actors are expounding doctrines that disturb my mind. And the daily prints are preaching sermons on the nation's crimes, and the magazines are preaching on the evils of the times, all the doctors are discussing health rules till they bring the tears and the scientists are fusing, pounding texts into our ears. Every one is bent on teaching, teaching us with voice and tongue, every one is bent on preaching till the last lone dog is hung. It would make the world less solemn make our journey far more nice, if we once could read a column that contains no good advice. If the speaker in the forum and the writer in the prints, wouldn't nax the folks and bore 'em with a string of helpful hints.

Which Was Successful?

By RUTH CAMERON.

Molly, the little stenographer lady, was much stirred up. So was the last open fire of the season, before which we were sitting. "That woman" had stirred up Molly, and Molly, stirred up the fire, a perfectly good fire too. The wants-to-be-cynic built it.

Molly had been job hunting, not for herself. Molly's employer is still in his right mind—but for another girl.

You know, big sister, related Molly, "this girl has only had high school stenography, but she's the kind of a girl who will work her head off if you give her a chance, and she just had to have a position right off, and a friend of mine sent her to me, so, of course, I had to find her something. I thought of Miss Ellis right away. She's tremendously successful—she works for a big firm that employs ever so many girls, and they say she has great influence, so I knew a word from her would get my girl a chance. And then I remembered that Miss Ellis had only high school stenography when she started, and had a terrible time getting a place, so I'm sure she'd understand."

"Well, big sister," Molly drew a long, burning breath and poked the fire fiercely. "Well, I hated to ask it because I never could abide the looks of her but I remembered what a time I had getting my first position, so, of course, I went to her."

Molly paused dramatically, but no one seemed inclined to hazard a guess.

"Well," continued Molly, "she said I came to this city with no more training than your friend had and in just as tight a place and no one helped me get my position."

"Then, of course, I thought she was going to say how hard it was and how she'd like to make it easier for this girl but she didn't. Instead she just sat there glaring at me, and finally she said again, 'I guess I had about as hard a time as any girl could have, and nobody ever helped me. And then I realized that she meant that as reason why she wouldn't help me get it, instead of why she would. And what do you think of that, big sister?'"

"Did anyone help you to get your position, Molly?" asked the lady who always knows somehow.

"Why, no," said Molly. "How could they? I didn't know anyone. That's why I knew how it felt and wanted to help her."

Said the man who thinks, "Did I hear you call Miss Ellis successful?"

"Oh, yes," said Molly, "she's terribly successful. Why, they say she gets at least $30 a week."

"And with a failure," murmured the man who thinks, half to himself.

"What do you mean by that?" said Molly. "He means," said the wants-to-be-cynic, quite forgetting his proper role—and that was especially nice of him, for Molly, in the course of her "stirring" story, had quite spoiled his perfectly good story. "He means that he has the really successful stenographer right here with us."

And no one disputed his interpretation.

FIRST AID TO INJURED HEARTS

THE MAN WHO KEEPS HOUSE

(Copyrighted, 1912, by Laura Jean Libbey.)

The man who is his own housekeeper, sews on his own buttons, cooks his own meals, in lieu of a wife to do all these domestic duties for him, should not be commiserated by people in general. On the contrary, he should be brought to a realization that he is actually usurping some good woman's place in the world.

A bachelor writes me as follows: "Dear Miss Libbey: I see that you advocate that all men should marry. Now, let me say that I think the majority of men could get along very well in doing their own housekeeping in lieu of a wife. I intend to practice what I preach. I had a disagreement with my landlady yesterday and have started in to keep house on my own hook. I have a good bedroom, bathroom, and kitchenette. What more could any man ask? There is not a marriageable woman whom I know of that is capable of keeping house for a man. They all seem to be looking for support. A bachelor's life for me, even if I do have to make my own bed, boil my own porridge, and fry my own eggs. Please, Miss Libbey, answer this and say you wish me well. I wish other young men would try the same plan. I am sure it would work out well. Men are not quite as dependent creatures as the women seem to think."

"BARRY G."

Women are particularly fitted for this work. No man can attend to two things satisfactorily at once—that of his own housekeeping and his business occupation. One or the other must necessarily suffer. Many a man starts in this way, and when he finds that he has actually made a mess of housekeeping he becomes only too anxious to marry. He is thankful, indeed, to get the housekeeping part off his hands.

ANSWERS

HER HUSBAND OFTEN "GROUCHY"

"Dear Miss Libbey: I am miserably wretched at times. I wonder if you can help me. There is no other man or woman in my case, but my husband has the funniest disposition I ever met with. Trifling matters make him angry, and then he 'grouches' for a week or 10 days. He wouldn't scold or say anything, just puts a long face on and won't say a word. It makes me miserable. I don't know what to do. I can't stand it. And just trifling things he gets angry at. Things no one would think of twice. He is that way at his work, too. The little things he complains of to me. It makes me miserable. I've talked to him about it and thought he was getting over it but the last 'grouch' he got was much worse than any before."

"D. M. C."

What your husband needs is a good talking to. To make him realize what an idiot he is making of himself. There is no reason why you should put up with such foolishness for a moment. Give him a good talking to, or have one of your men relatives do it, and tell him you are getting tired of his putting spells, and they must stop. Tell him to be a man and not a baby.

THEY MAKE LOVE

"Dear Miss Libbey: I am 18 and teach a country school. I have many large girls and boys in my school, and several of the older boys have learned to love school girls and spend their time sitting with the girls in school hours. I ask your opinion as to whether or not this should be allowed to secure the best work of them."

"MARIA."

I think the best thing you can do is to have the pupils change their seats. Make no criticisms or comments on their foolishness, but simply change their places.

HE'S JUST LIKE A BROTHER.

"Dear Miss Libbey: I am a girl of 17. I know a young man two years my senior. He has no father or mother, so he always lived with us. He was with us seven years. Last spring he went to visit his aunt, about 1,000 miles away, and just before he left he kissed me and my mother goodbye. I had a friend visiting at our place when he left, and when she saw me kiss him goodbye she said that it was very rude to kiss him. I love the boy but not his mother. We are very sorry for this boy, and mamma always did by him as one of her own sons. He writes to mamma and backs his letters 'Dear Mamma'."

"What I want to know is if it is right for me to kiss him or not? He just seems like my own brother. I never kiss any other boys and I won't kiss him if you say that it is not right. The girl that was visiting at our place when he left won't speak to me any more. I told her that he was my brother for he has been in the family seven years."

"BLUE EYES."

There is no harm in you kissing the fellow. Your girl friend, I am afraid, has not very good judgment in such matters.

16 North Tejon

IN THE EARLY DAYS

THIRTY YEARS AGO TODAY

May 16, 1882.

It was rumored that the El Paso county poor house was haunted, mysterious rappings being heard at the doors and windows of the house, which was located in the northeastern part of the city.

The W. C. T. U. gave a musical and literary entertainment at the Congregational church.

A random bullet from a revolver shattered the glass in a second-story window on Tejon street. No one had any idea who fired it.

At a meeting held at the residence of W. H. Roby to consider the interests of the Y. M. C. A. of this city, Colonel George De La Vergne, L. E. Sherman and J. G. Warner were appointed a committee to solicit subscriptions for the purpose of paying a general secretary for at least one year.

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

May 16, 1892.

The Rock Island had issued a pamphlet giving the telegrams and letters of congratulation received at the time of starting the Silver State limited, a fast train between Colorado and Chicago. This train made about the same time as the Rocky Mountain House of today.

A lodge of Knights of Pythias was being organized in Cripple Creek.

The shaft on the Orphan Bell mine at Cripple Creek was down 80 feet and the ore was showing up very satisfactorily.

THE HASKIN LETTER

CARIBBEAN POLITICS
XVI—THE HONDURAS TREATY.

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN.

TEGUCIGALPA, April 30.—It is probable that the pending treaty of the United States with Honduras, which country, with Nicaragua, has been called the cockpit of "Central America," will fail of ratification at Tegucigalpa as well as at Washington. Meanwhile the faction in Honduras headed by Policarpo Bonilla, is waiting for the president of Honduras, Manuel Bonilla, to die of the incurable malaria from which he is suffering. The Honduras people are very much prejudiced against the United States and American financiers, and the treaty commands but little support. Even the representative of the Honduran government, who acted as its agent in drawing up the treaty with Secretary Knox, afterwards resigned his position and opposed its ratification.

The immediate situation leading up to the negotiation of the treaty with Honduras was an effort to forestall the plans of the European bondholders to settle the Honduran debt question. The bondholders' counsel says that in March, 1909, an arrangement for settling the external debt was entered into between President Dasilo of Honduras, and the British minister of Central America, acting on behalf of the bondholders, but that before this agreement could be ratified by the bondholders and by the government of Honduras, the United States government intervened and insisted upon the substitution of its own scheme of settlement.

Fearing Would Retard Development.

The state department at Washington, on the other hand, says that the proposed agreement provided for increased import duties, and took no account of the undoubted equities and even the legal rights of Americans interested in various properties in that country sought to be hypothecated along with the customs in the settlement of the debt. The British plan also contemplated placing the principal railroads under foreign control. It was deemed to impose an unduly onerous burden upon Honduras, and it was also feared that it would tend to cripple the country and retard internal development and commerce.

Then Honduras asked the United States for assistance. The banking house of J. P. Morgan & Co. proposed that if a treaty were made giving the United States control of the customs houses of Honduras, it would furnish the Honduran government with funds necessary to meet its foreign debt to pay the internal debt, and to adjust the external and internal claims against the country, that it would further provide funds for certain internal improvements and railroad construction when the country got into a condition that would warrant it. This proposed loan was mainly to take care of the $126,000,000 debt owed by Honduras, and the foreign bondholders had agreed to accept payment on a basis of 15 cents on the dollar. The government has defaulted on the payment of the interest on its external debt for 40 years. The chief objection that was raised to the Morgan loan contract was against the provision for the promotion of a railway and other projects and for the settlement of internal debts and claims. The bonds were proposed to be sold at 88. In January of this year the Honduran government definitely rejected the Morgan proposals.

Negotiating for Big Loan.

A little later a New Orleans banking house, the Whitney Central Trust and Savings bank, associated with the firm of Belden & Co. of New York, entered into negotiations with Honduras for the assumption of the loan—that has been refused by the Morgan company. The proposition of the Whitney syndicate was for the issuance of a $10,000,000 loan, the first issue being for $2,000,000, payable in 40 years, interest at 5 per cent, with a sinking fund of 1 per cent after five years. The bonds of this loan, it is proposed, shall be secured by the customs receipts of Outstanding Loans Were in Default.

Still later another loan, for nearly two and a half million pounds, with interest at 6 3/4 per cent, was negotiated, the bonds being accepted at 75. A few years later yet another 10 per cent loan of two and a half million dollars was negotiated. In 1872, all four of the outstanding loans were in default. In 1887, a concession was granted to a Mr. Binney to pay off all of the foreign debts and to complete the railways. In 1892, the concession, its terms unmet, expired. Another somewhat similar to it was

Beneath green fringes of the pines,
A robin, 'twixt an ominous, dooming

Where anemones so sweetly gemm'd,
Dead leaves within a mossy nook,
"Mong tangled clusters of the bloom,
A robin, 'twixt, we, bonnie thing!"
Covered, sobbing in low, trembling tones,
The anguish of a broken wing.

Strange, but those fair mountain flowers,
In tender pity, "cuddled" down,
Laid close to the wounded bird,
And bent in flow'r tongue seem'd to speak.

Do birds speak? Yes, a language

More sweet more pure, than that of men.

In sunny tones, mong woodland dells,
And not alone to him who
But speak to birds who, too, have speech.

In music-words, tho' 'tis so strange,
Their tongues congenial in all clime,
And birds and blooms fond thought exchange.

Soft, fluttering from a branch above,
Where "mong green fringes clift their nest."
The poor, wee robin's mate came down,
And cuddled to her throbbing breast,
And with some dainty morsel fed,
With cooing tones the trembling bird.

Then sang, but not his glad, old song
But song as sad as I have heard,
Jays, bluebirds, we, part children
All hushed their mirth for his sad sake.

As if his little heart would break,

BENJAMIN ROSENBERG DIES

Benjamin Rosenberg, owner of the Rosenberg clothing store at 24 East Huerfano street and a well-known business man of Colorado Springs, died suddenly at 11 o'clock yesterday morning, of pneumonia. He was at his store Saturday, and became ill in the evening. Pleural pneumonia developed and he rapidly sank, though his condition was not regarded as dangerous until near the end.

He came to Colorado Springs in 1896, and had been in business here most of the time since. He is survived by his widow and three young children.

No arrangements for the funeral have been made, awaiting word from a brother in the east, but it probably will be held under the auspices of the Masonic order, of which he was a member.

Denverites Compiling History of Colorado

What is said to be the most ambitious reference and biographical work ever undertaken in the state is "Sketches of Colorado," which is in process of preparation by the Western press bureau of Denver.

C. T. Boykin, vice president of the bureau, and John F. O'Brien, formerly a reporter in this city and a Colorado Springs securing data for sketches of the lives of the most prominent men here.

The completed work will be in four volumes, and the producers say it will cover the field in a manner never before attempted. Volume 1 contains a history of Colorado and biographical sketches of governors and other notable characters in the state's history. Volume 2 will deal with the history of the three largest cities and with the prominent men of Denver, Colorado Springs and Pueblo.

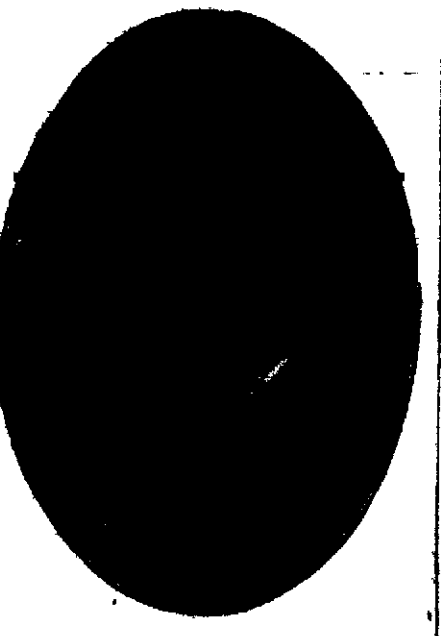

Will C. Peck, curator of the State Historical society, is editor-in-chief of the publication.

the other candidates on the ticket being in about the same proportion. The union also expressed itself in favor of the proposed increase in the salaries of the president and secretary of the parent organization from $2,400 to $3,500 a year each.

Edward C. Starrett and J. E. Chelev were unanimously elected delegate and alternate, respectively, to the annual convention of the international union, which meets in Cleveland in August.

Reports from Pueblo are that the administration candidates carried that union by three to one the vote on president being 37 for Lynch and 12 for Barker. Edward Duvall, administration candidate was elected delegate to the Cleveland convention.

SUPPOSED ROYALTY IS GRACING COLO. SPRINGS

Royalty, in the person of Mohamed Ali, brother of the khedive of Egypt, is supposed to be gracing Colorado Springs at the present time under the guise of "Rustam Bey of Cairo" registered at the Antlers. At any rate, Rustam is said to have admitted that much in an interview in the east, and given consideration that should be shown persons high in court circles is requested at hotels, railway officials and others with whom he may come in contact by Thomas Cook's Sons, the great London tourist agency.

The party arrived in Colorado Springs over the Rock Island yesterday afternoon. "Rustam Bey" is accompanied by his wife and MM. Kadir and Akoustaph, besides a maid. A stroll about Antlers park was all the sightseeing done during the afternoon and none of the party consented to seeing a reporter. They will remain in Colorado Springs until next Monday, when they will leave over the Santa Fe for California, taking in the Grand canon on the way. Evidence of the rank of the foreigners is shown in letters sent from officials high in the Santa Fe service to C. C. Hoyt, city passenger agent here. Fred Harvey, manager of the Santa Fe hotels, and officials in the train and Pullman service, asking that the party be shown special attention.

Mohamed Ali is a year younger than his brother, Abbas Hilmi, khedive of Egypt. He is 36 years old, having been born October 28, 1875. His brother has been ruler of Egypt since 1892, where his unsuccessful struggle against British domination has been the notable feature of his reign.

WIDOWED AT 12; DIVORCED

With the stipulation that neither party marry within a year, Mrs. Rose A. Fikani was granted a divorce from Habib Fikani in the county court yesterday, Judge Little signing the decree. Fikani waived the time accorded him by law in which to plead or answer the divorce summons, and consented that the action be heard and determined by the court. He was represented by his attorney, Arthur Cornforth.

Mrs. Fikani charged extreme cruelty in the complaint, and the question of the care and custody of one child, a son 15 years old, was settled out of court.

Mrs. Fikani's husband, according to the Syrian custom, was selected for her by her parents, and she declares that she did not know she was to be married until after the ceremony was performed in Denver. At that time she was but 12 years old. She testified that her husband abused her on various occasions and threatened to kill her. Fikani conducts a curio store in Manitou, and for a number of years Mrs. Fikani has been in charge of curio parlors at the Antlers.

ASSOCIATED CHARITIES IN DEBT; MAKES APPEAL

As a result of the severe, long winter and the subsequent suffering among the poor, the call for help upon the Associated Charities has been more numerous than ever before, so that now it is in debt and needs money to carry on the work of relief in the future. The organization, therefore, has issued the following self-explanatory statement to the public:

Appeal for Funds.

Never before in the history of the organization have the demands upon the Associated Charities been so heavy as they have been during the past winter. In ordinary years the work is continuous throughout the year, and to the fact that so much regular aid goes to tubercular families and individuals who must be helped the year around. During the last winter the number of these has been greater than ever before.

The Associated Charities has been spending about $45 a month for aid for the sick who are being cared for in their homes. Eight hundred and thirty-seven dollars and forty cents has been spent upon hospital care and board for tuberculars since December 1. In addition to this, large sums have been spent for food and fuel for families in their homes rendered dependent because of unemployment.

These figures, showing the comparative amounts spent for material relief, alone this year and last, will give an idea of the burden placed upon the organization during the last winter:

LAST YEAR.
December, material relief.....	$285.09
January, material relief.....	$344.82
February, material relief.....	$45.81
March, material relief.....	$24.60
Total.....	$1,386.62
THIS YEAR.
December, material relief.....	$328.09
January, material relief.....	$12.40
February, material relief.....	$12.40
March, material relief.....	$75.72
Total.....	$3,170.58

March a Hard Month.

As the figures indicate, the work in March had to be classed as a winter month, although it has usually marked a lightening of the Associated Charities' burdens. During that one month, six calls were made at the office, 179 visits made, and 263 different cases cared for.

Were it not for the dread disease, tuberculosis, a much smaller organization could meet the needs of Colorado Springs. But we have the tubercular poor with us, and will continue to have them. The climatic advantages of this locality, heretofore world over, appeal to the poor as well as to the rich. For life is just as dear, but just as eagerly sought, by the man in the mine and factory as it is by the rich man. It is the full recognition of this fact that has always brought such generous responses to the Associated Charities' appeal for funds to aid the tubercular poor in the community. The Associated Charities deplores the coming of the indigent tubercular. It realizes, perhaps as no one else, the misfortune suffered by the community and by the individual himself. While waiting for a general plan, it attempts to solve each particular problem as it comes, sending the poor one home to his friends if he doctors say there is no hope, and for our own community and the individual.

The severity of the last winter, together with the industrial depression which has been general throughout the country, has brought to the city hundreds of men in search of employment. The tramp has been conspicuous by his absence. Many resident families who have never before been forced to ask for aid during the last winter because of the inability to find work.

Is $1,584.94 in Debt.

As a result of this abnormal demand upon the Associated Charities, the organization is now $1,584.94 in debt. There has never been any year when the contributions have been so large or the contributors so numerous as they have during the last winter, yet the income has not been sufficient to meet the demands of the Associated Charities because of illness and unemployment.

Unlike the business organization, the Associated Charities must meet its obligations as they come, or else meet them all when they come. When a child's life could be saved if it were placed in a hospital immediately, the ambulance had to be called at once. To stop to balance the bank account would have been fatal in such a case.

When the thermometer was hovering around zero and the poor were in need of fuel, the coal had to be sent at once, the money secured later.

When the long line of hungry men applied for food and shelter, they could not be turned out on the streets to starve, or beg because the Associated Charities was several hundred dollars in debt.

But now the day of financial reckoning has come. The Associated Charities wishes to place these facts before the people of Colorado Springs with the hope that they will testify to their approval of its action in relieving distress promptly, by coming to their financial aid at a time when money is scarce and never before, not only to pay an indebtedness incurred during the winter, but to carry on the still heavy burden of work during the rest of the year. No matter how small the contribution it will help, even if it is only enough to pay for a meal and a lodging for a hungry man.

The council of the Jr. O. U. A. M. will dedicate the Arenasdale school building in Colorado City tomorrow evening with appropriate exercises. A special program has been prepared under the direction of Miss Cowell, the principal of the school. A flag will be given to the school and the presentation speech will be made by J. P. Madden of Colorado Springs. The members of the order in Colorado Springs and Colorado City will attend in a body. The public is invited.

SPRINGS CAPTURES 1912 MEETING JR. O. U. A. M.

The 1912 state convention of the Jr. O. U. A. M. will be held in Colorado Springs, next May. This was decided at the close of the convention of the Colorado lodges, which met in Denver, Tuesday, J. P. Madden of this city was elected state treasurer for the fourteenth consecutive time, and also was given a past state councilor's jewel. M. W. Mullen of Colorado Springs was elected state vice councilor.

The reelection of the Colorado Springs men was practically decided on before the convention, while the landing of the 1912 meeting for this city was accomplished without special effort.

The convention adopted resolutions endorsing the stand of the commission of Indian affairs, that the Indian schools should be kept separate from any particular church; also the following resolutions of greeting to the Grand Army of the Republic, now in session in Boulder:

The Resolutions.

Whereas, That honored and much loved organization, the Grand Army of the Republic, whose service to our government and institutions mark them in the eyes of the people of this nation one of the greatest patriotic lodges of men the world has ever known; and whereas, in the teachings of said organization, the fires of patriotism have been kept burning and the spirit of loyalty prevails; and whereas, the patriotic spirit of the south in the days of reconstruction has shown to the world the American spirit, the result of which the people of this nation are today a united body, loyal to our government and its institutions; it path us to see the passing of this honored organization, their service to us as a nation will soon end, and whereas we want them to see that the patriotic spirit which animated the worthy organization will continue to live; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the state council of Colorado, Jr. O. U. A. M., convening in annual state convention, this fourteenth day of May, 1912, in the city of Colorado, do hereby greet the Grand Army of the Republic in their declining years that the patriotic work where they leave off will be taken up by the Jr. O. U. A. M., and that our services be at their disposal; be it further

Resolved, That our fraternal greetings and good fellowship continue to abide, that a copy of these resolutions be sent the department commander of Colorado and Wyoming; the press, and spread upon the minutes of this convention.

The Manitou Hot Iron club will hold another smoker in the near future, when matters of general interest to Manitou people will be discussed.

The Manitou council has passed two ordinances which concern the running at large of stock. The council also has granted a liquor license to the Manitou hotel. Some early meeting will be taken at an early meeting in regard to the abatement of certain nuisances.

The fight against Superintendent of Schools H. A. Keeley is being continued. Some of his opponents declare that the appointment of the teachers for next year, before the election of a new board, was illegal and can be rescinded by the action of the new board, if it wishes.

Since the granting of the injunction by Judge W. S. Morris, in the district court, against the sale of bonds to build a high school auditorium and gymnasium, the idea that the matter will not be carried further is general in Manitou. The school board has a majority against the building of the auditorium, so that body will not fight it longer.

What the Press Agents Say

MRS. FANNIE HAMMOND
WITH JAMES HAWLEY AND COMPANY WILL BUY SUMMER HOME HERE

Colorado Springs will be on the theatrical map when it comes to actors and actresses buying summer homes, which has made Long Island so famous, as Miss Fannie Hammond, character woman with the Hawley company, has had two or three agents showing her different homes for sale in the city.

After the curtain had gone down on the last act of "Mary Jane's Pa" at yesterday's matinee, Miss Hammond was heard to have said: "New York performers can have all the summer homes they want on Long Island, but I will make Colorado Springs my summer home, for I was looking at a place this morning that is about the prettiest little home I have ever seen, and it can be bought very reasonable. Then we will have some place where to spend the Sundays and also a chance to get some real home-cooked food." Miss Hammond will bring on a cook from her home in Ohio, who will also help her in the theater.

This week, James Hawley and Garlick Players are presenting Henry E. Dives' late success, "Mary Jane's Pa," a comedy drama in three acts. Next week's production, Manager Faught will offer the Belasco theater success, "Going Some," by Rex Beach. The play will be changed every Monday, Matinee days, Wednesday and Saturday. Advance sale of seats at the Opera House Drug store, Phone Main 490 or 720.

"THE SEWER OF PARIS"
AT THE MAJESTIC

A story of the underworld, of scenes and incidents of the seamy side of life, a dramatic production of intense interest, of pathetic incidents, of rare action, tenderness, childhood in the slums of all of our great cities. The story plays first on our sympathy for little Oliver (Bela Kido), a child kept by a gang of thieves and forced to steal. On the other hand, it excites our loathing and hatred for the villain, a dark-bearded man, who among respectable people passes as a great philanthropist. This double life gives to his character a very good chance to succeed. There is a very good reason for his very great adoration to do honest practices he is compelled to do, black pockets, break into houses. One of these expeditions he makes a friend of a doctor, who is kind to him, and whom, later, he rescues from a

ALABAMA MINSTRELS
PLAY TO CROWD

The Alabama Colored Minstrel gave an amusing production under canvas last night. The crowd filled the tent to its capacity. The act most worthy of comment were those of the Clark brothers, who opened the performance. Edwards was excellent on the slack wire and proved himself to be an exceptionally good dancer and comedian. A very unique idea smoking act by Watts, the giant and funny fellow, was highly commendable, and his imitation of a trombone was very clever. The feature of the entire performance was a fire-eating and contortion act by High Hunt. There was a good band, and orchestra, which furnished music to the songs through the entire show. Waco, Texas, News.

They will give performances in Colorado Springs, Saturday, May 18, in the big tent on Nevada avenue, between Huertano and Cucharas. Watch for the big street parade at noon.

PERMITS ARE RENEWED

Thirteen drug stores were granted permits to continue to operate at yesterday's meeting of the city council, as follows:

The Paris Drug company, the Robinson Drug company, the South End pharmacy, the Prompt pharmacy, the Monroe-Freytag Drug company, the Colorado Springs Drug company, the West Side pharmacy, the People's pharmacy, Murray's Bijou Drug store, Murray's East Side Drug store, the Murray Drug company, Macy's pharmacy, the Opera House pharmacy and the Hefley-Arculus Drug company.

granted to the El Paso, Pikes Peak, Elites and Driving clubs and to the Antlers hotel.

A number of drug stores neglected to put in applications to renew permits as pharmacists, and although the time limit expires today, it is not likely, according to city officials, that the stores thus affected will be ordered closed. It is expected that all permits will be renewed tomorrow.

Several routine matters were discussed at yesterday's meeting of the city council, including the appointment of Mayor Avery, in the absence of the mayor's present trip to Washington in the interests of the Colorado Springs-Manitou land bill.

Jack Schwartz was awarded the contract to lay a new water main in the alley west of Tejon street from Bijou to Cucharas.

A committee of ministers asked for favorable consideration of the proposed Sunday ordinance, and the request was referred to a committee of the whole to report later.

An ordinance passed final reading, whereby the payment of all city licenses will be made through the city clerk's office. As a result, the clerk's staff will be made up of three deputies instead of two.

Prove that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Does Restore the Health of Ailing Women.

Boston, Mass.—"I was passing through the Change of Life and suffering from hemorrhages (sometimes lasting for weeks), and could get nothing to check them. I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound (tablet form) on Tuesday, and the following Saturday morning the hemorrhages stopped. I have taken them regularly ever since and am steadily gaining."

"I certainly think that every one who is troubled as I was should give your Compound Tablets a faithful trial, and they will find relief."—Mrs. GEORGE JUBR, 802 Fifth Street, South Boston, Mass.

Letter from Mrs. Julia King, Phoenix, R.I.

Phoenix, R.I.—"I worked steady in the mill from the time I was 12 years old until I had been married a year, and I think that caused my bad feelings. I had soreness in my side near my left hip that went around to my back, and sometimes I would have to lie in bed for two or three days. I was not able to do my housework."

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has helped me wonderfully in every way. You may use my letter for the good of others. I am only too glad to do anything within my power to recommend your medicine."—Mrs. JULIA KING, Box 282, Phoenix, R.I.

Letter from Mrs. Etta Donovan, Willimantic, Conn.

Willimantic, Conn.—"My husband and I were afflicted with a chronic trouble causing backache, irregularities, dizziness, and nervous prostration. It was impossible for me to walk up stairs without stopping on the way. I was all run down in every way."

"I tried three doctors and each told me something different. I received no benefit from any of them but seemed to suffer more. The last doctor told me it was no use for me to take anything as nothing would restore me to health again. So I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to see what it would do, and by taking seven bottles of the Compound and other treatment you advised, I am restored to my natural health."—Mrs. ETTA DONOVAN, 762 Main Street, Willimantic, Conn.

Letter from Mrs. Winfield Dana, Augusta, Me.

Augusta, Me.—"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has cured the backache, headache, and the bad pain I had in my right side, and I am perfectly well."—Mrs. WINFIELD DANA, R.F.D. No. 2, Augusta, Me.

Letter from Mrs. J. A. Thompson, Newport, Vt.

Newport, Vt.—"I thank you for the great benefit Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done me. I took eight bottles and it did wonders for me, as I was a nervous wreck when I began taking it. I shall always speak a good word for it to my friends."—Mrs. JOHN A. THOMPSON, Box 4, Newport Center, Vermont.

Letter from Miss Grace Dodds, Bethlehem, N.H.

Bethlehem, N.H.—"By working very hard, sweeping carpets, washing, ironing, lifting heavy baskets of clothes, etc., I got all run down. I was sick in bed every month."

"This last Spring my mother got Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for me, and already I feel like another girl. I am regular and do not have the pains that I did, and do not have to go to bed. I will tell all my friends what the Compound is doing for me."—Miss GRACE B. DODDS, Box 123, Bethlehem, N.H.

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No one sick with woman's ailments does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine, made from roots and herbs. It is restored so many suffering women to health.

Old-Time Remedy Darkens the Hair

For generations Sage and Sulphur have been used for hair and scalp troubles. Almost everyone knows the value of such a combination for keeping the hair a good even color, for curing dandruff, itching scalp and falling hair, and for promoting the growth of the hair. Years ago the only way to get a Hair Tonic of this kind was to make it in the home, which was a troublesome and not always satisfactory procedure. Almost any up-to-date druggist can supply his patrons with a ready-to-use product, skillfully prepared in perfectly equipped laboratories.

An ideal preparation of this sort is the famous Sage and Sulphur Hair Tonic, in which Sage and Sulphur are combined with other valuable remedies for scalp troubles and thin, weak hair that is losing its color or coming out. After using this remedy for a few days, you will notice the color gradually coming back, your scalp will feel better, the dandruff will soon be gone, and in less than a month's time there will be a wonderful difference in your hair.

Don't neglect your hair if it is full of dandruff, losing its color or coming out. Get a fifty-cent bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur from your druggist, and see what a few days' treatment will do for you. All druggists sell it, under guarantee that the money will be refunded if the remedy is not exactly as represented. Agents, the Robinson Drug Co.

LOWELL KINDERGARTEN BUILDING IS UP AGAIN

A delegation from the Lowell Improvement league again presented a request to the school board at its meeting last night, for early action on the construction of a separate kindergarten building at the Lowell school.

The erection of the Lowell kindergarten, tacitly considered to be provided for in the recent bond issue, has been delayed by failure to acquire adjacent property necessary for a site. condemnation proceedings are underway, however, and the board promised that as soon as the land is secured it will proceed at once on the building.

The present kindergarten rooms are in the basement of the school building, and are said to be inadequate.

MEMBERSHIP INCREASES

The membership committee of the Chamber of Commerce is steadily working on the campaign to secure a membership of 1,000 before the end of the year. Names of the following new members were announced yesterday: Gilmore Plumbing company, L. L. Altman, G. W. Giffing, Whitney-Cohen Shoe company and J. B. Hammer. The enrollment now numbers about 730, and while no general campaign, such as was made last year, will be attempted, every day or so new applications are turned in.

It is the plan of the chamber to hold more of the meetings of its various committees, etc., in the rooms in the Burtin building. The monthly luncheon of the directors yesterday was held in the rooms, lunch being served by a caterer, and the innovation was appreciated by the members. Matters occupied the time of the directors at the luncheon.

A resolution was unanimously adopted by the directors, thanking the South Cheyenne Canon and Seven Falls Development company and the Cheyenne Canon Hurro and Carriage company for courtesies extended yesterday in the entertainment of the Pacific Coast Advertising Men's association.
